The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Use a Gun and Go to Jail

When Congressman Bob Wilson was in San Diego last week to confer with the press, he elected to discuss the growing guns/narcotics traffic based in Mexico.

Guns, now under strict control in Mexico, have become extremely costly there. In the U.S. narcotics have grown progressively more expensive as dope popularity grows. It makes criminal sense to trade guns for narcotics in Mexico. Smuggling guns in and narcotics out seems to be the minimal problem in the trade.

The gun market in the U.S. is burgeoning, too, says Wilson. Many of the guns are stolen from U.S. arm ries. "We've lost enough guns from our armories to arm three battalions," Wilson told the press.

Many of these guns go to the growing groups of revolutionists and insurrectionists in the United States, Wilson added.

He said he is urging Congress to study means of stemming the two-way illegal traffic across the southern border. He announced no plans for gun controls in the U.S.

But already controls are becoming stronger against gun-using criminals in California. The governor signed a bill a few days ago that will make jail sentences mandatory for those who use a gun in the commission of a crime, upon conviction.

A bitter argument rages between those who want the registration of all guns or a ban on handguns, and those who believe stricter gun laws would bring to an end freedom in this nation.

Some people have experienced gun situations that do nothing to solve the problem. For example, there was the local man who kept a .38 police special revolver locked in a compartment in his garage until it was stolen by a burglar.

The sheriff's department recovered it from a youth in the neighborhood and the gun was returned. The youth was placed on probation and welfare. He came out of it with an income and a friendly probation officer to socialize with.

The gun was again put into the locked compartment and it was stolen again. This time for good. The victim gave some thought to gun ownership. He had kept his gun in the garage because it gave him a false sense of security with the gun on the premises but beyond the reach of visitors. That it was beyond easy access in case of danger didn't bother him because the theory had never been tested.

But a test came one morning about 2 a.m.

There was a noise in the garage. A stealthy investigation revealed a thief syphoning gas from one of the vehicles. The sound of footsteps alerted the offender. He grabbed his can of gasoline and fled.

The house is on a hillside and the thief ran downhill through fruit trees and bushes and was making good his escape without being identified.

The victim shouted, "stop, or I'll shoot." The thief hesitated. He had a decision to make. Would the victim shoot? Did the victim even have a gun? Could he hit the target if he had a gun and shot?

The victim also was faced with a decision. Was the thief armed? If the thief returned and found him gunless, would the victim now have to fight for his life? Was he foolish when he thought he had the courage to shoot a human, even if he had a gun?

Both persons, apparently, came to the decision about the same time. The thief continued to flee. The victim also fled. He went to the seeming safety of his own home. He went immediately to one of the bathrooms. He wasn't exactly scared but the bathroom seemed to offer the relief at the time.

It may have entered the minds of both that the law which allows a person to protect his home and possessions is qualified. Courts are now finding the victim guilty, in some cases, where it is felt that shooting is too severe a reaction to a minor crime such as burglary. The victim might face an assault-with-a-deadly-weapon charge under such philosophy.

Imagine being awakened in the dead of night by an intruder groping his way through your darkened residence. The intruder is shot but he explains to the district attorney that "I was just looking for a light!" Shooting a man because he asks for a match constitutes cruel and inhuman treatment—if you look at it a certain way.

It makes the victim the criminal and the offender the victim.

This material is not going to change opinion regarding the right to possess a handgun but it does offer an insight on some of the responsibility that comes with defending one's property with a gun.

It also offers an extra degree of protection for the midnight intruder who is looking only for a light.

Panel Will Eye Student Smoking at Mt. Miguel

A panel discussion on permitting high school students to smoke in a designated area on school grounds will be held Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. in Room 991 at Mt. Miguel High School.

Sponsored by the Mt. Miguel Citizens' Advisory Council, the meeting will give the audience an opportunity to learn more about the new smoking law passed by the state legislature, and then to make their opinions known to the Grossmont District School Board by completing questionnaires on the subject.

All persons living in the Mt. Miguel attendance area are invited to attend.

The Citizens' Advisory Council wants to include in its membership some senior citizens, pre-school parents, and non-parent business persons.

Any of the above who live in the Mt. Miguel area and who are interested in meeting one evening a month to discuss school programs and matters are asked to call Mrs. E. P. Myers at 466-2230 or to call the school 463--5551.

Colonel is Loser

It will cost the Colonel more than $500 to replace two 12 volt motors which operate the two-ton capacity lift gates on a couple of his trucks.

Officials of Kentucky Fried Chicken, 6618 Federal blvd., Lemon Grove, said that a thief entered the parking compound one night last week and uncoupled the devices during the firm's closed hours. The loss was listed as grand theft.

BIRTH OF COMMITTEE — The Lemon Grove Incorporation Reorganization Committee was formed on Wednesday of last week at a public meeting at the Lemon Grove Fire Station. The meeting was moderated by Mike Niederman, environmental administrator for San Diego County's Local Agency Formation Commission, seated at center, head table. Dell Lake, standing left, was elected chairman of the reorganization group whose responsibility is to adjust boundaries of various local agencies into the proposed boundaries of the proposed City of Lemon Grove. The committee will report to LAFCO on December 15.

Reorganization Committee Views Incorporation Problems

Lemon Grove's Reorganization Committee will meet each Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Youth Center on School lane to prepare for a final report to be given at a Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO) meeting on December 15.

During the eight Wednesdays the committee will concern itself with problems involved in changing boundaries on the Spring Valley and the Lemon Grove Fire Districts as well as the boundaries of the proposed City of Lemon Grove.

There are other problems, too, but these will be minor compared to city and fire district boundary problems.

Chicken-Egg

The city boundaries will set the fire district boundaries—and vice versa. A chicken-egg problem exists. When the Board of Supervisors, the sponsors of Lemon Grove's incorporation, set proposed boundaries, members decided highway 94 was a proper boundary on the north. Residents between that boundary and the hilltop three blocks beyond, were already in the Lemon Grove Fire and the Lemon Grove School Districts. A recent poll taken by the boundary committee of Citizens for Incorporation showed that 84 per cent of the residents polled wanted to stay in the two districts. The alternative would be accepting annexation to La Mesa since supervisors will not permit unincorporated islands in the county.

While the Lemon Grove Fire District is concerned over the possible loss of the Vista La Mesa area as a tax base, the Spring Valley Fire Department worries about the possible loss to the Lemon Grove District of two small areas.

One is the Blossom lane area, about 40 acres north and west of Mt. Miguel High school.

The other is the Big Bear Shopping Center together with an apartment complex at the intersection of Campo rd. and 94.

The Blossom lane land is contiguous to the Lemon Grove Fire District but the Big Bear area can only be reached by hop-scotch. The Lemon Grove District ends in a pie shaped wedge about a half-mile west of the center. Brookside, in the Spring Valley District, separates the two areas.

Updated List

A complete list of members named to the Reorganization Committee to date includes:

Dell Lake, chairman and Karen Thomson, vice chairman.

Frenchy Faucher, Mildred Huebsch, Marilyn Linn, the Rev. Mike Maxson, Bernadine Southard, John Stenbeck, Bob Russell, Bob Guest, Jim Dorman, John Ott and Dr. Bob Burns.

From the Spring Valley Fire Department are Fire Chief Daryel Stager, Richard Allen and Rick Sherard.

The meetings are open to the public but decisions will be made at the LAFCO meeting December 15.

According to Mike Gotch, assistant executive officer for LAFCO, final decisions will be made by LAFCO at the December 15 meeting. At that meeting, individuals and those representing groups will be heard and their requests considered byp LAFCO.

CEREMONIAL CHOMP— Miss Lemon Grove, Kathy Simmons, samples one of the red delicious apples that local Kiwanians will be peddling in their annual "Apple Days" fundraiser. The Lemon Grove club will put the "bite" on area residents for apple sales beginning Wednesday. Kathy will be on hand for the 1 p.m. opening ceremony. "Apple Days" chairman Lou Poluzzi holds a box of the product while Kiwanis President Mike Maxson and Carl Lacki, Bank of America manager, display banner.

21st 'Apple Days' Start Wed.

A ceremonial kick-off for the 21st annual Lemon Grove Kiwanis "Apple Days" is scheduled for Wednesday at the "Apple Car," this year located between Bank of America and Mac's Texaco station at Imperial and Central in Lemon Grove.

On hand at the opening will be Louis Poluzzi, principal at Lemon Grove Jr. High and Kiwanis "Apple Days" chairman; Miss Lemon Grove, Kathy Simmons and Kiwanis President Mike Maxson. The sale begins Wednesday at 1 p.m. and continues through Saturday, October 25.

This year's crop of Washington Delicious apples has survived inflationary spirals, according to Kiwanis publicity chairman E. K. "Woody" Mott. Apples will sell at last year's prices of $12 per box of 100; $6 for a half a box and $3 for a quarter box. The apples are neatly arranged on cardboard trays and stacked in boxes for bruise-free shipping.

The refrigerated "apple car" will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. Wednesday and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. the remaining days of the sale.

Orders may also be placed with key club members. Numbers to call: 460-4601, 463-8429, 461-0253, 469-5201 or 582-5940.

This year, apple sales will help Lemon Grove Kiwanis fund special education programs for youth and aid the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley Nutrition Project.

During the 20 years of apple sales, the local club has sold more than 2,000,000 apples, raising in excess of $35,000 which has contributed to band uniforms and travel expenses for students at Helix High, Mt. Miguel High and Lemon Grove Jr. High schools, Mr. Mott said.

The club has also assisted with many special educational projects in the elementary and secondary high schools. Their beneficiaries include orphanages, Christmas funds, scout troops, CARE, Little League, Pop Warner, Bobby-Sox, earth quake relief funds, Lemon Grove Plaza maintenance and campership.

Lions Raise $1,200 for Children's Eye Program

White Cane Days, sponsored locally by the Lemon Grove Lions club produced more than $1,200 this year — about $150 more than the year before, according to Bill White, chairman of the project for the local club.

Proceeds from the event, which was held Saturday, will be used for an eye screen project at Lemon Grove schools. Youngsters in kindergarten or attending local schools for the first time, will be given a test without cost.

According to Les Cleer, co-chairman of the annual project, an average of 670 students have been screened each of the four years the program has been in effect. Of the total, 18 per cent are found to have an eye deficiency of some sort.

A note is sent to the parents of the child with a visual defect and they may take whatever action they wish.

The White Cane project was started nationally by Lions Clubs in California in 1961 but the local testing was originated with the Lemon Grove club. It has now been expanded to several other clubs in the state.

Lifetime Help

Cleer said that screening can detect any eye trouble except near-sightedness and the treatment of such problems will aid the youngster throughout life.

White Cane Days also aid Beep Balls for the Blind. The Lemon Grove club has purchased 20 balls to be used in the area.

Plans are underway to bring a Beep Ball National Series to San Diego in 1977 — probably at S.D. Stadium. The Lions White Canes groups are sponsoring the event.

Beep balls make a beeping sound during the game and blind players hit and catch via the ball's sound. Other sounds are used for pitching and relaying the ball.

New Look is Temporary

Powell River-Alberni Paper Co., the firm which supplied our newsprint for the past 15 years, went on strike several months ago, and a shipment of newsprint from its Canadian plant of the proper size never arrived in San Diego.

A narrower paper will be published for several weeks at least until wide newsprint con be found.

Parent Orientation Said to Help Students

University High School, the only Roman Catholic co-educational high school in San Diego, began its 1975-76 school year with over 1400 students, the largest enrollment since the school opened in 1957. There are 73 persons on the faculty.

Gerald W. Giles, University's principal, said two school-parent orientation classes were held earlier this month in the school's gymnasium.

The purpose of the orientation evenings, according to Giles, is to help develop the best possible understanding and communication between the school and the home. Each student is more likely to prosper in his school efforts knowing that parent and teacher are working closely together in providing leadership, he said.

CLUB WOMAN'S CALENDAR

Soroptimists to Fete Two at October Meeting

The Lemon Grove Soroptimist club will honor two local women at an award breakfast on October 22.

Marie Hitchcock, famed Spring Valley puppeteer, will receive the Women Helping Women award and Hannelore Hooper, an El Cajon homemaker, will be granted a $250 Dr. Amorita Treganza scholarship.

Mrs. Hitchcock has given a large number of puppet shows in the name of the Soroptimist club without remuneration.

Mrs. Hooper, mother of three in a home without a husband and father, returned to college rather than go on welfare. The Treganza scholarship award is made for "women being retrained in the job market."

Rose Cotton, Soroptimist president, said Mrs. Hooper showed great courage in accepting the hardships of raising children 5, 8 and 10 years of age and attending school on an extremely limited budget.

The presentation will be made at the group's October meeting 7:30 a.m. at the Terrace Mobilehome Lodge, 1816 Sweetwater rd., Spring Valley.

The Soroptimist club is made up of business and professional women who work to serve their community, promote civic projects and improve family and social life in their community.

CHP Chief Reports Farm Land Hearings Set for Oct. 16-20

Van Deerlin Seeks Relief From Aliens' Medical Bills

Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego, is seeking House action on bills to provide federal reimbursement for the costs of dispensing emergency medical care to illegal aliens.

These expenses now are borne by local taxpayers and in San Diego County they may amount to $800,000 this year, Van Deerlin said.

He asked for early hearings on the bills in a letter sent recently to Representative Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., chairman of the House subcommittee on Health and the Environment.

Immigration Ineffective

Van Deerlin said that since policing the borders is a federal responsibility, "local governments should not be penalized when immigration controls are not . . . effective."

San Diego County spent $600,000 last year on emergency medical services for illegal aliens. Van Deerlin told Rogers the cost could rise to $800,000 this year.

Bills to let the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare assume these costs were introduced in February by Rep. B. F. Sisk, D-Fresno, with Van Deerlin and other San Diego area congressmen among the co-sponsors.

In his letter to Rogers, Van Deerlin said providing medical care to illegal aliens has become a national problem, with all parts of the country sharing in these expenses. "Accordingly a remedy ought to be provided by Congress." he said, in urging consideration of the legislation which has been reposing in Rogers' subcommittee since it was introduced.

Van Deerlin said he thinks expert witnesses from San Diego would be available to testify when and if hearings are scheduled.

Till Tapped of $32

While a clerk at Dave's Tropical Fish, 407 Sweetwater rd., Spring Valley, was in the back of the shop discussing canaries with a customer, a 16-year old youth tapped the till of $32 and ran from the premises, sheriffs deputies were told.

A description of the thief was given the officers.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

People who ply their trade in the toy department of writing establishments — the sports department — are often accused of ducking the challenge of life and playing the game in safe pastures. And more often than not, there's a good sized chunk of truth in the charge.

There is a radiant warmth to the morning sun for the reporter of such disasters as shutouts, losses and pulled hamstrings. Even the brightest sun loses its charm when the night was spent writing of fire, death and burned children.

What man or woman among us would not much rather cover even the sorriest of athletic contests than spend equal time watching fire crews searching debris for the broken bodies of its victims.

Man, boy, girl, person, anybody can play and take victory and defeat in stride knowing that they will live to play another day.

The sadness of the sports pages is the sadness of hope. Defeat is the path of victory. Even fulfillment is but a fleeting moment in the world of contest and make believe. Today's winner is just another starter in tomorrow's race.

But in that real world of pain, injury and sorrow, today's loss is tomorrow's agony. Defeat is paid with harrowing torment. The bright warming sun is lost in the shadow of endless pain and buried under the monument of hopelessness.

It is for these reasons then that the sporting fraternity feels a special kinship for those who match the might of athletic contests to the benefit of real world victims.

Especially when the victims are children, beings not long enough on earth to have offended anyone.

Think back over the last few years. Think hard! Push through the veil of comfortable forgetfulness and remember the tenement fires of New York City. Chicago. Detroit. How about the ghetto of Los Angeles? Or the dirty end at the southeast section of America's Finest City, beautiful San Diego?

Does your sense of well-being and pre-occupation with the ineptitude of your favorite gridiron stalwarts prevent you from remembering pictures of helpless youngsters being all but shifted from the ashes of murderous fires as they claim victim after victim across the nation?

And even when you do remember, when you recall the television clip or newspaper picture of a badly burned child being carefully cradled by a fireman with tears in his eyes as he delivers his charge to a paramed aid station; what thought pass through your head?

Do you say, "Oh, that's too bad, but that's life," and forget it ever happened? Or do you take the "I wish there was something I could do, but there isn't," approach?

It that's the way you go, you're wrong on both counts. First of all, it is too bad about burn victims, but that isn't life, it's death. Or without help it is.

And secondly, you can do something about it, and have a helluva good time doing it.

For 53 years the Shriners of America have taken in the sick, the injured, the crippled, the burned children.

At first they could handle only a few but as the years rolled on and their fortunes grew, the Shriners established hospital after hospital from east to west and north to south.

There are now 22 Shrine Hospitals dedicated to recovery and repair of damaged and torn children, including three special burn units.

More than $75 million has been spent by Shriners of North America in the construction of these life-giving facilities and more than $300 million has been spent in support of their day to day operations.

And just where do the Shriners get all that money? How deep do they dig to come up all that scratch? Not so deep that you can't help.

What they do is sponsor football games, like the one coming up Saturday night when San Diego State hosts New Mexico at the Stadium.

You can enjoy yourself watching Claude Gilbert's Aztec crew battle its way up the national gridiron standings with the warm and sure knowledge that youngsters who dare not even dream of football may live through that dream to play the game.

Even sports writers get serious about this game. No matter what their preference in the field, you can believe every fan there gets one helluva lot for his money.

Improved Chargers to Clash With Rebounding K.C. Chiefs

The philosophy of football watching isn't much different than that of a businessman. The latter watches sales dwindle for several weeks during which he becomes panic-stricken; almost to the point of cutting out his nightly martini.

But give him one good day of business and he calls home and says, "Hey, honey, go ahead and buy that mink stole you've been wanting!"

And Charger fans are out shopping for stoles. Even T. Prothro, whose responses to probing questions are often acerbic, has mellowed. The Chargers had the year's finest day Sunday. Prothro has not exactly become a back-slapper but he's friendlier. Fans are no longer faulting the management. They're beginning to think "win."

But let's not let the joy juices flow too freely. The Kansas City Chiefs will do nothing Sunday to add to the euphoria of Charger fans. At 1 p.m., at the Big Stadium, there may be blood-letting. Based on form charts, it'll be Charger blood.

Cheers, Thrills

While the Chargers gave 38,482 home fans a day of cheers and thrills in the overtime game with the Rams last Sunday before succumbing 13-10, let's not overlook the Chiefs stunning 42-10 rout of the Oakland Raiders — the Raiders worst loss in 14 years.

In the Chargers-Chiefs series, Kansas City leads 16-13-1. The teams split last year. The Chiefs won at San Diego 24-14. The Chargers won at Kansas City 14-7. The Chiefs are 1-3 on the season; the Chargers, 0-4.

First Home Touchdown

Last week was a milestone day. The Chargers scored their first 1975 home touchdown on a second-down, second effort run by Don Woods. Apparently stopped just short on the goal, he muscled his way across — just Woods and the ball — against six Ram defensemen. A 36-yard field goal by Ray Wersching put the Chargers ahead in the third quarter. The Rams won with 9:27 elapsed in overtime on a 22-yard field goal by Tom Dempsey.

Fouts completed 17 for 26 passes good for 180 yards. Woods rushed 105 yards and took six passes for 57 yards.

Rookie Kelcher

Charger rookie defensive tackle Louie Kelcher made 14 tackles, 10 unassisted, against the Rams while playing opposite 15-year veteran guard Joe Scibelli.

Kelcher made 10 tackles against the Raiders two weeks ago. Is the 6-foot-5, 282-pound No. 2 draft choice from SMU happy with his progress?

"I think I've learned more about pro football in the last two games than I thought possible," answered Kelcher.

"I'm feeling more relaxed. At the beginning of the year I was nervous and it showed. But I'm still a rookie and a rookie is a rookie no matter what."

Sails Games on KSDO Radio

All San Diego Sails games will be broadcast on KSDO News-Radio (1130) for the 1975-76 season.

84 regular season games and all play-off games to be broadcast on KSDO as well as the "Sails' Pre-Game Show," and "Sails' Wrap-up."

KSDO Sports Director Andy Musser will describe the pre-season game. The voice of the Sails for the regular season play-by-play assignment will be announced shortly.

The Sails have added a pair of scrimmages to their schedule, both at Salt Lake City. They will be meeting the Utah Stars Friday, 7 p.m., and Saturday, at 2 p.m.

Aztecs to Try for No. 7 Against Aggies Saturday

San Diego State hosts New Mexico State Saturday at 8 p.m. in San Diego Stadium as the Aztecs play in the annual Shrine Charity Football Game, benefiting crippled children.

The Aggies of New Mex-State come into Saturday night's contest with a 4-2 record after upsetting Wichita State last week, 26-24. New Mexico State shored 19 points in the sesond quarter to overcome a 14-0 deficit and then hung on in the second half for the win.

San Diego State comes into the game with a perfect 6-0 after blanking Fresno State 29-0 last week. The Aztecs employed a smothering defense that allowed the Bulldogs just 31 yards rushing on 27 attempts. Fresno State had only 124 yards total offense on 52 plays and the Aztecs intercepted five passes.

The game marked the third time in six games the Aztec defense has held an opponent under 100 yards rushing. Earlier San Diego State held North Texas State to 31 yards on 35 carries and Oregon State to 55 yards on 45 carries. Overall the defense has allowed just 519 net yards for an average of 86.5 yards per game. The defense has allowed its opponents just 214.3 yards per game.

Running back Ollie Brown had his finest day as an Aztec against Fresno State with 19 carries for 147 yards and three touchdowns. Brown had the season's longest run of 60 yards in the game.

The Aztecs had a season high 234 yards rushing as Monty Reedy picked up 95 yards on 16 carries to compliment Brown. Overall San Diego had 391 yards total offense.

"I was pleased with the win over Fresno State," said Aztec coach Claude Gilbert, "but we were a little sloppy in spots and had some breakdowns in discipline. The runing game worked exceptionally well and we're very pleased about that. Terry Jackson played a fine game at corner and Ken Hinton was super at the other corner.

USD Cagers Work Out

USD's basketball team has begun workouts. Coach Jim Brovelli will send 15 players and any walk on players through workouts daily.

Practices are being held on Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday at 7 p.m. and on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons at 3:30. A scrimmage game will be held on each Sunday workout, these scrimmages are open to the public.

Pro Soccer Chooses San Diego

San Diego is the new home of an unnamed franchise in the American Soccer League, Bob Cousy, commissioner of the ASL told reporters at a press conference in San Diego last week.

San Diego is one of four West Coast cities which will begin play in the ASL in the 1976 season. Sacramento, Oakland and San Fernando Valley also received franchises in a four-city western expansion by the American Soccer League.

The expansion details were completed at an ASL owners' meeting in Cleveland the week before last, which was attended by represenatives of the San Diego group.

Locally Owned

The team has not been named as yet, and negotiations are currently under way for a general manager and coach.

San Diego's ASL team will play a 20-game schedule, starting in late April or early May.

The 1976 ASL schedule will be announced in January.

The San Diego team expects to play several exhibition matches locally, in addition to the regular season schedule, and there is a possibility of several international matches, according to McEvoy.

Balboa Stadium

Negotiations are under way for the use of Balboa Stadium for the team's matches, according to McEvoy.

Awarding this franchise by the American Soccer League is in keeping with the growth and interest in the game of soccer locally," said McEvoy. "For example, in 1970, there were less than 1,000 children participating in organized youth soccer . . . this season, projection points to more than 10,000 participants in organized soccer."

The American Soccer League was the first professional league formed in the United States. It was organized in 1933 in New York City.

Cousy, former basketball great with the Boston Celtics, represented the ASL at the meeting, along with John Paris, director of marketing for the league.

Aztecs-Aggies Game Benefits Hurt Youngsters

A 45-minute display of pageantry that will include more than 400 marchers and musicians will precede Saturday's Aztecs-Aggies game at 8 p.m. in San Diego Stadium.

Stepping off at 7:15 p.m. on the stadium turf will be uniformed units of San Diego's Al Bahr Temple as well as contingents from area military bases and bands representing county high schools.

The San Diego Aztecs are 6-0. The Aggies of New Mexico State are 4-2. Saturday's game is the 31st Shrine football fund-raiser.

The pageantry will be led by Al Bahr Shrine Illustrious Potentate Leroy E. Edwards, followed by game co-chairmen Murdock Kidder and Ray Shukraft. The temple will be represented by 15 uniformed groups, including the Al Bahr band, Oriental band and drum and bugle corps.

Among others taking part will be the Aztec marching band, the Marine Corps Jr. ROTC marching unit from Oceanside and seven area high school musical organizations. NTC's Flag team, Recruit Drum and Bugle Corps, and Drum team.

Her-Him ProAm Golf Tourney Ready in NSD

Southern California club professionals will be paired with touring women pros as part of next week's $53,000 Golf Inns of America Ladies classic starting October 23 at Whispering Palms and Lomas Santa Fe Country Clubs in Rancho Santa Fe.

The male pros will play the first two days of the 72-hole event shooting for a $10,000 purse.

The professionals, both men and women, will participate with amateur partners in a 36-hole pro-am conducted along with the medal-play competition of the tournament.

The field will be split and alternate between Whispering Palms and Lomas Santa Fe the first two days with the women pros playing the final 36 holes Saturday and Sunday at Whispering Palms. The LPGA purse is $43,000.

Sandra Palmer, leading money winner on the LPGA tour, will participate along with Kathy Whitworth, all-time LPGA earnings leader, Carol Mann, Donna Caponi Young, Kathy McMullen and Carole Jo Skala.

A field of more than 70 women pros is expected with 17 of this year's top 30 players already entered.

Season spectator tickets at a special pre-tournament price of $6 that provide admittance to all four tournament days may be purchased at pro shops and golf supply houses throughout San Diego County.

$5,000 Purse Event For Cajon Race Finale

The final race of the 1975 super stock car season will bring the top cars on the west coast to Cajon Speedway to compete for a $5,000 purse.

It's the largest purse ever put up at Cajon Speedway's 3/8th's-of-a-mile, paved oval, with $1,000 going to the winner.

The fastest 20 cars in the west will compete in the 100-lap main event in the invitational meet.

The second fastest 20 cars will go 30 rounds in the semi-main leaving the rest of the field for the 15-lap consolation race.

Four heats, and a trophy dash which will be flagged at 8 p.m. are programmed to end the 1975 season.

The final meet will put attendance over the 100,000 mark for the ninth time in the speedway's history. Last week's sprint-car race came within 65 fans of reaching that mark.

Saturday's card will be sponsored and sanctioned by the El Cajon Stock Car Racing Assn. with most of the regular racing rules enforced.

A group of more than 75 drivers is expected for the qualifying set for 6 p.m.

An increase of 50 cents will be charged for the event.

The increase will enable the San Diego area to compete with outside race tracks for top purses to bring the best of auto racing to local fans.

Track records are expected to be broken with the top competition of the year going for the big money.

Mats Beat Valhalla 14-12; Castle Park Here Friday

By Steve DeNunzio

The immortal Vince Lombardi once said that his football teams never lost, they just ran out of time.

Well that's the way the Valhalla Norsemen felt as they lost a grueling football game to the Mt. Miguel Matadors 14-12.

Valhalla scored two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to turn a boring game into a classic thriller.

The first of Valhalla's touchdowns came as Paul Mills took a handoff from quarterback Mike Vint and ran four yards for the score.

Down 14-6 with just seconds left, Mike Vint hit Nick West with a 39 yard TD pass.

Mt. Miguel opened up the scoring with Bill Stuart scoring from the one in the second quarter.

The Matadors' other touchdown came as Mike Merino broke through the Norseman defense for a 28 yard TD run.

The difference in the game was Mt. Miguel's two point conversion attempt, with quarterback Steve Slater connecting with Mike Smith in the endzone.

The win was an important one for Mt. Miguel, now 3-1, as it kept them within a game of league leading Grossmont High. The Matadors have already bettered last year's record — a dismal 2-6-1.

Friday, unbeaten Castle Park invades Mt. Miguel. Kickoff is 8 p.m.

For Seniors, Chronically Ill

Flu Immunization at Lemon Grove Thurs.

This year's mass influenza immunization program for senior citizens and those with chronic illnesses is launched next week, the San Diego Department of Public Health announced.

In the East County area, three locations will dispense the vaccine: Lemon Grove Nutrition Center, 3146 School ln., Thursday, October 23, 1 to 3 p.m.; La Mesa Recreation Center, 8450 La Mesa blvd., Wednesday, October 22, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.; and at the El Cajon Nutrition Center, 269 Highland ave., Tuesday, October 21, 1 to 3 p.m.

To be eligible for an immunization, a person must be 60 years of age or older or suffer from a chronic debilitating disease, Dr. Ramras said. Chronic diseases include those of the heart, lungs, bronchial tubes, kidneys and metabolism, such as diabetes.

More Susceptible

Dr. Ramras stressed that it is important for people in both groups to get protection since they are most suspectible to the complications of influenza.

Eligible persons should be immunized annually, a spokesman for the program said, because strains of the virus change from year to year.

Likelihood of a reaction to the vaccine is minimal. Redness and tenderness at the injection site and a low-grade fever may occur. Persons allergic to eggs or egg products should consult their family physician regarding immunization since the vaccine is made in part from eggs, the Health Department advised.

The clinics will be staffed by physicians from the San Diego County Medical Society, nurses from the community and Health Department and volunteers from numerous senior citizen groups.

Flu vaccine will also be available at some community clinics in the county. Names of participating clinics are available from the Council of Community Clinics, 488-2747.

Rain Cuts Phone Service in Grove

Last week's showers produced a residue of trouble for the telephone company.

A manhole in the vicinity of Broadway and Massachusetts in Lemon Grove filled with water and in the process dampened cables.

In attempting to drain the runoff, pressure was reduced in the cable system and some 1800 pairs of lines were out of service.

Jim Hill, line assignment supervisor, said an emergency crew worked Saturday and Sunday to get the lines working Sunday morning.

Telephones north of Broadway along Massachusetts to Charles st. were affected.

Carpenter is Tooless

Miachel Ray Lunen, a carpenter, of 9017 Lemon st., Spring Valley, went to his job as usual one day last week but he didn't go to work.

At the work site, he hopped from his pick-up truck cab to get his tools, but they were gone.

He told sheriff's deputies that the tools, in a tool box, were in the bed portion of his truck when he came home from work the night before.

It will cost Lunen $300 to replace his tools.

CUSTOM FIT — Dorris Perry, owner of DAP Custom Originals, brings 15 years of clothesmaking experience to her new shop in Suite J of the 7733 Palm ave. business complex (at Imperial ave.). The designer-seamstress specializes in adult male and female clothing of all types at prices competitive with ready-made clothing outlets. The business opened earlier this month.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Those who read newspaper articles concerning GRASP (Grossmont Recreational Activities and Swimming Pool), certainly must have gotten the impression that all the hard work that has gone into trying to raise funds the past two years to build a pool for the Mount Miguel community has gone for naught and that we are giving up.

THIS IS NOT SO!

What we intended to say was that although we do have a great many ideas for fund-raising programs, we feel very strongly that we are hitting the same people time and time again with our Pool-a-Thons, and our "Blitzes," and we were hoping, through GRASP, to spread out through the entire Grossmont High School District.

We are going to build a pool at this school — one way or another! However, we do feel that we need to know whether or not Lemon Grove and Spring Valley are totally behind us in this effort.

We feel that raising over $20,000 in two years by contributions, two Pool-a-Thons, and one "Blitz" is a good indication that we do have local support. But, we are still $80,000 away from our goal. A facility of this nature is desperately needed in this area — not just for the young people, or the athletic team, but for everyone.

A recap of the total funds collected is as follows: $13,000 (1973-74 & 1974-75 Pool-a-Thons); $8,200 "Blitz" spring, 1975; and $4,000 through miscellaneous contributions.

On behalf of the Boosters' and the MCAC (Miguel Community Aquatic Center), we would like to say, "Thank You" to those who have helped support this program; we appreciate your willingness to help. We welcome any additional ideas you might have that would help us inyolve every person in these communities towards the achievement of our goal. In the meantime, don't despair, we are not giving up!

Bob Sanders, President
Mount Miguel Boosters' Club.

Most Here Favor Low Profile for President

A scientifically designed telephone survey conducted for KFMB-TV Channel 8 has shown that most San Diegans feel President Ford should restrict his public appearances.

Two recent apparent attempts on the President's life have stirred a national debate over how freely President Ford, who wants an open presidency, should move among open crowds.

53 per cent of those polled agreed that Ford should restrict his movements. 35 per cent said he should not, and 12 per cent were undecided.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR — Glenn E. Munyon was recently installed as Lt. Governor of Division 31, California-Nevada-Hawaii District of Kiwanis International.

Munyon, a past president and member of the Spring Valley Kiwanis club, was installed by Robert Divine, also a past president and member of the Spring Valley club.

Munyon is a vice-president with Home Federal Savings and Loan Assn. of San Diego and lives on Point Loma.

Munyon told Kiwanians, "The challenge and privilege of serving as Lieutenant and Governor during our nation's bicentennial year is a real honor." The theme program for Division 31 will be "Project Idea," allowing each club to develop projects to emphasize the theme, "Independence Demands Enthusiastic Americanism."

In addition to his Kiwanis activities, Munyon is vice-chairman of the Board of Directors of the Pacific Home Corp. which is responsible for the operation of fourteen Methodist sponsored retirement homes and convalescent hospitals.

S.V. Burglar's Loot $3,500

Robert Petton, 38, of 2528 Granada circle, Spring Valley is a tuna fisherman who went to sea on September 27.

He was advised by sheriff's deputies via radio, that his residence had been burglarized last week. Family members checking on the place told police the front door had been broken and that practically all of the household goods removed. Neighbors said they had noted two males parked in front of the residence a few days before the break was discovered.

Petton estimated the loss at nearly $3,500. Missing items included all the bedroom furniture and linens; kitchenware, food, stereo equipment, teevee, cameras, radios, lamps and tools.

A suspect has been named.

Loot $4,600 in 3 Local Burglaries

A burglar twisted the knob from the front door of the residence of Charlotte Kohler Borscheim at 8926 Delrose st. in Spring Valley, while she was away one day last week.

The burglar got away with items she valued at $2,095 which included a teevee, stereo and a fox fur stole. Included too, was her jewelry which included several wrist watches.

On the same day, over in Lemon Grove, a burglar entered the home of David Michael Beddoes, a gardner, of 3026 Corona ave. and profited by some $1,590.

He listed items of his loss, which occurred during his absence, as a $340 turntable, a $500 reel-to-reel stereo recorder, $350 in records and tapes; a stereo speaker and various electronic equipment.

There was no indication of general ransacking and it could not be discerned where the intruder made his entry.

And in Casa de Oro, a couple of days later, a burglar entered the home of Ray Michael Pace, of 3903 Conrad dr. and took a stereo recorder, a cassette player, a reel-to-reel recorder, a clock and some beer.

Pace, who was not at home during the break-in, said his loss would amount to more than $1,000.

Police Detain Grove Man During Hirohito's Visit

Vincent Broesch, 20, of 1631 Woodrow st. was questioned by the Secret Service Thursday about noon when a special patrol team observed him on the Harbor Island overpass adjacent to Lindbergh Field.

The emperor and his motorcade passed the spot where Broesch was detained a few minutes later.

Police reported that they found several .22 bullets in Broesch's pockets and a rifle with a scope in the trunk of his car which was parked in a nearby hotel lot.

Police questioned Broesch about an hour and released him.

Two Men Charged With Bookmaking

Two local men were netted in a bookmaking sweep by members of the Sheriff's Public Inspections Unit in concert with the San Diego Police.

In all, five men were charged with suspicion of bookmaking at various San Diego locations.

The local men are Paul E. Hudson, 45, of 8825 Orville st., Spring Valley and Elmer G. Bales, 49, of 2172 McKnight st., Lemon Grove.

HOUSE BLAZE — The charred remains of the kitchen in the home of John W. George and family illustrate the extent of an estimated $30,000 in damage to the structure on 1723 Madera st., Lemon Grove.
The fire, discovered by construction workers Thursday morning, October 9, is still under investigation. Probable cause was an electrical short circuit, according to Capt. John Ott, Lemon Grove fire station.

ARB Rules Car Makers Responsible For Catalyst Warranty Maintenance

The California Air Resources Board (ARB) recently ruled that automobile manufacturers — not vehicle owners — must pay the cost of replacing costly catalytic converter smog devices on 1976 and later model automobiles during their warranty periods.

The action came after a lengthy hearing during which auto makers insisted that consumers should be forced to pay replacement costs. The ruling saves owners of cars requiring converter changes from $75 to $300.

ARB Chairman Tom Quinn spoke out against auto firms' "public-be-damned attitude . . . that consumers must pay . . . enormous sums (for converter replacement)."

The amendment, which took effect immediately, challenged an earlier ruling by the Federal Environmental Protection Agency which placed the costly catalytic converters in the same category as spark plugs, fan belts and similar maintenance items not covered by the car's warranty.

Many Changes

The Board estimated that about 111,000 1975 model foreign-made cars will require catalyst replacement or service prior to the end of the car warranty. These include Aston Martin, Audi, British Leyland (Austin Morris, Jaguar and Triumphs), Daimler-Benz (Mercedes). Fiats, Volkswagen (Dashers, Rabbits and Scirocco) and Porsche 914s.

Presently, only a small number of foreign manufacturers are planning catalyst replacements during the warranty period for 1976 models, but there are strong indications that most manufacturers, including American car makers, are comtemplating a catalyst change for 1977, ARB reports. The replacement-type catalyst might make it easier for manufacturers to meet the more stringent 1977 standards.

The emergency regulation adopted by the Board remains in effect through December 31. Meanwhile, a public hearing will be scheduled prior to November 30 to consider adoption of a permanent regulation for the remainder of the 1976 model year, and all of 1977.

The action requires manufacturers to bear the entire cost of any catalyst replacement or service within the warranty period, and to take reasonable steps to minimize any inconvenience to car buyers.

Plus Sticker, Buzzer

In addition, the manufacurers must place a window sticker or decal on the vehicle to notify prospective purchasers of any necessary catalyst changes and resulting inconvenience. Also, manufacturers are required to install a warning buzzer to alert car owners when the vehicle has accumulated the mileage required for the catalyst service or replacement. The auto makers must report to the ARB at specified intervals on the number of catalyst-equipped vehicles they have serviced.

ARB is considering a policy change which would disapprove use of catalysts for 1978 and later model vehicles which require service or replacement within 50,000 miles.

Catalytic converters were added in the 1975 model year by most car makers.

What They Do

The converter is a container that holds pellets or a honeycombed layer of catalyst material. Exhaust gases pass through the pellets or honeycomb which contain a small amount of platinum or similar metal. This results in a chemical reaction which changes carbon monoxide and unburned hydrocarbon into harmless water vapor and carbon dioxide.

Mt Miguel Band Wins Poway Sweepstakes

The marching Matadors, Mt. Miguel High School's Marching Band, was named Sweepstakes winner for the third consecutive year at the Poway Pow-Wow Days Parade and Band Competition held Sunday in Poway.

The school's marching band, led by instructor Dean Immel, won all top awards, making a clean sweep. They won the Showmanship Trophy as well as Best Music Trophy. 12 high schools bands competed.

Poway High won first place in Class A bands, followed by second place San Marcos. Class AA bands Madison and Patrick Henry were first and second, respectively.

The Matadors, chosen for the past two consecutive years to appear in the Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena, will compete Saturday for the Rancho Bernardo Sweepstakes.

The Rose Parade Committee will be in attendance and select the county representative following Saturday performances. Mt. Miguel's chances of being selected for a third straight year are slim, according to Mr. Immel who nonetheless is hoping for another Sweepstakes title on Saturday.

Late School Bus Run Nixed by GUHSD Board

The Grossmont Union High School District Governing Board turned down the latest bid from residents of Jamul and Alpine for an evening school bus run to both areas from Valhalla High School.

Parents have been requesting the service since 1959 when Alpine students were first assigned to El Capitan High and Jamul students were assigned to Monte Vista.

Both areas' students are now attending Valhalla.

The board decided at last week's meeting that the $10,000 for operating the two busses was an unwarranted expense, according to John Barrons, asst. supt. of business services.

Parents had requested the late bus run so students of the two outlying areas could take advantage of the libraries and extra-curricular activies after school hours.
